No one seems to have learned that carrier pigeon "A16602" is stopping in this city. The bird looks well-bred, and it may be that i⊧ has only taken up ats residence at Mr. Lilley's, on Wawayanda avenue, while it restairou a long flight. The pigeon is perfectly tame, eating from the hand without fear. Mr. Lilley intends to adopt the bird if no one claims it, and the bird seems to have no obection to the plan.

It takes a party of "railroaders" to have a big time at a dance. They enter into the spirit of the thing and stay in until the man who runs the lights kicks about long hours. Trainmen, who frequently work all night on their trains, A Surprise at the Quay Conbecome accustomed to turning night in to day, and they go to a dance just as they make a run-it's not over until the and of the division has been reached.
